

Crownchasers: Meet Rebecca Coffindaffer, the Woman Behind the Throne

Rebecca Coffindaffer is a force to be reckoned with. She is the founder and CEO of Crownchasers, a company that helps women achieve their financial goals. She is a passionate advocate for women's empowerment and has been featured in Forbes, The Wall Street Journal, and Bloomberg.

Rebecca's journey to becoming a successful entrepreneur was not always easy. She grew up in a low-income household and was the first person in her family to go to college. She worked her way through school and graduated with honors from the University of California, Berkeley.

After college, Rebecca worked in the financial industry for several years. She quickly realized that there was a huge gap in the market for financial advice tailored to women. In 2016, she founded Crownchasers to fill this void.
